

2008

Acknowledgements

Follow this and additional works at: <http://digitalcommons.bucknell.edu/chr>

---

Recommended Citation

(2008) "Acknowledgements," Comparative Humanities Review: Vol. 2, Article 15.
Available at: <http://digitalcommons.bucknell.edu/chr/vol2/iss1/15>

This Acknowledgements is brought to you for free and open access by Bucknell Digital Commons. It has been accepted for inclusion in Comparative Humanities Review by an authorized administrator of Bucknell Digital Commons. For more information, please contact dcadmin@bucknell.edu.

Acknowledgements

The Comparative Humanities Review would like to thank all of those who contributed their time and devotion to bring this second issue to fruition. We would like to thank our advisors, Professor Katherine Faull and Professor Alfred Siewers. Thank you also to Professor Slava Yastremski, Professor John Hunter, and Professor Clingham, and the Comparative Humanities department, for their advice and encouragement. Thank you to the contributors, for your insight and enthusiasm: Lauren Forsythe, Michelle Gallagher, Bryan Kim-Butler, Diana Koretsky, Nick Kupensky, Alex Lee, Steve McClellan, Joey McMullen, Allison Rittmayer, Nicholas Rockower, Lauren Rutter, Joseph Schwartz, and Kang Tchou. Thank you to the conference panel chairs, as well, for their time, encouragement, and interest: Professors Katherine Faull, Alf Siewers, Slava Yastremski, and John Hunter. To those who organized the conference and helped out (and not to mention, also drove to the airports to fetch wayward conference participants), many thanks for your patience and efforts on the most anticipated weekend on the Bucknell calendar: Nick Kupensky, Kang Tchou, Taeko Nakashima, Christine Felser, Joey McMullen, and Lauren Rutter. I would personally like to thank Nick Kupensky, for giving me the opportunity to direct this portion of his long-reaching (and successful) vision for this conference. I hope I didn't let you down. Finally, thanks again to Joey and Lauren, who will be producing the next few installments... Godspeed and good luck.