DEAR NASPA COLLEAGUES AND FRIENDS,

On behalf of the NASPA Board of Directors, the NASPA Staff, and the 2023 NASPA Annual Conference Leadership Committee, welcome to Boston and welcome to those joining us online with the Virtual Experience! Home to over 60 colleges and universities within the city limits, the Boston Red Sox, New England clam chowda, and a whole lotta lobsta! We are honored that so many of you have chosen to join us in celebrating our work and expanding our knowledge of the current issues affecting our students and profession.

As the Conference Leadership Committee, we invite you to explore how our profession is evolving. Throughout the conference we hope you will rethink what we may know to ensure that we think big, take risks, and unleash a better iteration of ourselves and our profession. This year's conference focus areas highlight three important topics:

- ◆ Centering Student Affairs in an Institutional Context
- ◆ Infusing Scholarship into Practice
- ◆ Embracing the Future of the Profession

Through historical perspective, current scholarship, and intentional conversation, we hope that we can have thoughtful discussions that will set us on a path to implement a sustainable and innovative future. We hope that you engage with each other, the city, and the many virtual opportunities to convene. The learning doesn't just take place in the meeting room. Networking and the celebration of important mentors are just a couple of the reasons we join together this year. Share your wisdom, reconnect with colleagues, make new connections, and bring home ideas to improve your practice.

THANK YOU FOR JOINING US FOR #NASPA23 AND WE LOOK FORWARD TO BEING IN COMMUNITY WITH YOU!

WE ALL DESERVE A MORE SECURE RETIREMENT

Substantial wealth gaps are keeping far too many people from achieving their dreams. But at TIAA, we believe in the fundamental right of every person to retire with dignity and financial security.

It's time to retire inequality for good.

IF YOU ARE JOINING THE 2023 NASPA ANNUAL CONFERENCE IN PERSON, your presence in this place, now known as Boston, should be coupled with the labor and context of how you came to occupy this place, and your relationship with and to this land. If you are joining the NASPA Virtual Experience, the same work can and should take place with regard to the place where you live and learn.

Massachusetts Tribe at Ponkapoag

The Massachusetts Tribal Nation has existed since time immemorial and has a well-documented existence in historic and modern times. It is from our Indigenous nation that the Commonwealth of Massachusetts derives its name.

The Massachusetts Tribe at Ponkapoag descends from the Neponset band of the Massachusetts indigenous nation, whose ancestral lands include what is now Boston. The British settlers eventually forced the Neponset band into what was called a self-governing “praying town” of Ponkapoag. The praying town (reservation) was established in 1657 and was one of many established by British settlers across the state of Massachusetts for indigenous Christian converts.

Despite obstacles we have faced historically, our people continue to survive today, and we proudly retain traditions of our ancestors.

Land Acknowledgment Speaker

Tracy Eastman, Massachusetts Tribe at Ponkapoag Board of Directors

Tracy Eastman is an enrolled member of the Massachusetts Tribe at Ponkapoag, and she serves on the tribe’s Board of Directors. Tracy also co-leads the tribe’s language reclamation activities. Tracy previously held various senior relationship management and director roles throughout her career at TIAA, where she led key initiatives in support of managing institutional client relationships and providing financial services and retirement plan services to academic, research, medical, and cultural institutions.

GLOBAL HEALTH, SAFETY, AND RESPONSIBILITY

WITH ONGOING PUBLIC HEALTH EMERGENCIES, NASPA is prepared to manage our placed-based events with health, safety, and well-being of our attendees, staff, presenters, exhibitors, sponsors, and speakers in mind. All participants are expected to abide by our code of conduct and all policies in effect for any event sponsored by the Association. We reserve the right to modify these policies and procedures at any time given the rapidly changing nature of any current and ongoing public health emergencies.

COVID-19 Event Safety

In regard to COVID-19, we will continue to monitor and update safety precautions for the NASPA Annual Conference regularly and coordinate with trusted national resources, state and local public health agencies, and the hotels/venues hosting the event.

COVID-19 Vaccination

In keeping with the Association's duty to care and responsibility as host, NASPA leadership strongly encourages all participants at the in-person 2023 NASPA Annual Conference, whether a presenter, attendee, exhibitor, staff, guest, or vendor to be fully vaccinated for COVID-19 and, for those eligible, to receive the COVID-19 booster. The CDC updated their Vaccines website to indicate the status of "Fully Vaccinated" and "Up To Date".

"Full vaccination" means that either 14 days have passed since receiving the second dose of FDA or WHO authorized (or emergency use authorized) double-dosed vaccines or single-dose vaccine.

"Up to Date" means a person has received all recommended COVID-19 vaccines, including any booster dose(s) when eligible.

NASPA strongly encourages individuals to be tested for COVID prior to traveling to any NASPA event. Individuals who test positive should stay home and cancel your registration.

Monkeypox

Monkeypox is a virus which is generally spread through close, personal, often skin-to-skin contact which causes symptoms including fever and rash. The virus is spreading in the United States and globally. On July 23, 2022, the World Health Organization declared the global outbreak a Public Health Emergency of International Concern, and on August 4, 2022, the Biden Administration declared the United States outbreak a public health emergency.

You can learn more about monkeypox by visiting the World Health Organization (WHO) webpage of the U.S. Centers for Disease Control (CDC) webpage.

Masks

The city of Boston has lifted its indoor mask mandate as of March 1, 2022 and the CDC launched new guidance regarding COVID-19 Community Levels. As a result, masks are not mandated in indoor settings, including the Boston Convention and Expo Center and the Westin and Omni Hotels. Wearing a mask at #NASPA23 is a personal choice and we ask that everyone makes their choice responsibly. Given the numbers of individuals coming from around the world, we strongly encourage participants to wear masks (KN95, N95, or surgical (procedure) masks) throughout the event. All attendees should be mindful and respectful of other attendees' health choices. Masks must cover both the mouth and nose. We ask that participants honor the requests of others to mask up and/or maintain physical distancing.

Please contact Stephanie Gordon, Vice President for Professional Development, or Amy Shopkorn, Vice President for Operations at covidinfo@naspa.org for more information.

Physical Distancing

While many venues are not currently requiring physical distancing, NASPA will provide some options for physically-distant seating and event space set-up to allow individuals who wish to physically distance while in sessions to do so comfortably. Additionally, to help attendees communicate their level of comfort in interacting with one another, NASPA will provide color-coded ribbons to all onsite attendees:

RED	Greet From 6 Feet

FINDING YOUR WAY

IT'S ALL ON THE APP!

The My NASPA mobile app is where you'll find everything you need to navigate the conference and craft your experience. You can download the "My NASPA App" from the Apple App or Google Play stores.

Build your Schedule: The most up-to-date schedule information will always be found in the app. You can search for educational sessions by title, presenter name, professional level, competency, or topic area. You can also add your meetings, receptions, and other special events to your schedule, right in the app! Be sure to book time in the Exhibit Hall so you don't miss out on special offers from our corporate sponsors – not to mention the best break-time snacks!

Connect with Colleagues: The My NASPA App is your gateway to all virtual engagement throughout the conference, accessible from Boston or any location! Join the 2023 NASPA Annual Conference Discord Community, visit the NASPA Constituent Group Hub, or find colleagues one-one-one through the Shake to Connect feature.

Visit the Neighborhoods: We encourage you to take advantage of the location in Boston and visit the restaurants, coffee shops, and businesses within the downtown Boston area! Many places will offer a discount when you show your #NASPA23 badge.

NASPA Discord Community

The 2023 NASPA Annual Conference has launched a Discord community for conference attendees. The space has been configured to have something for everyone including conference content and higher ed hot topics, the latest happenings with Marvel, Peloton, or any other area of interest, and communities built around institution type, content area, and NASPA Constituent Groups. All conference attendees are invited to join the Discord community (download the Discord app on your phone or computer!) and engage with each other throughout the event.

Be Safe and Respectful

NASPA is dedicated to providing a welcoming environment and strives to address the interests of its members and the student affairs profession on issues related to social justice, equity, and inclusion. We seek to foster a positive environment built upon a foundation of trust, respect, open communications, and ethical behavior. Visit the NASPA Equity and Justice website to view our entire Code of Conduct. If you experience or witness discrimination or harassment during the NASPA Annual Conference or occurring while you or others have acted in a NASPA-related capacity, we encourage you to report the incident to a member of the NASPA staff. Reports can be made online, through the event mobile app or a form available at the registration desk in North Lobby, or by email to Amy Shopkorn, Vice President for Operations, at ashopkorn@naspa.org. You can report anonymously or share your name and contact information for follow-up by NASPA staff.

All Gender Restrooms

BCEC, North Lobby and Exhibit Hall B

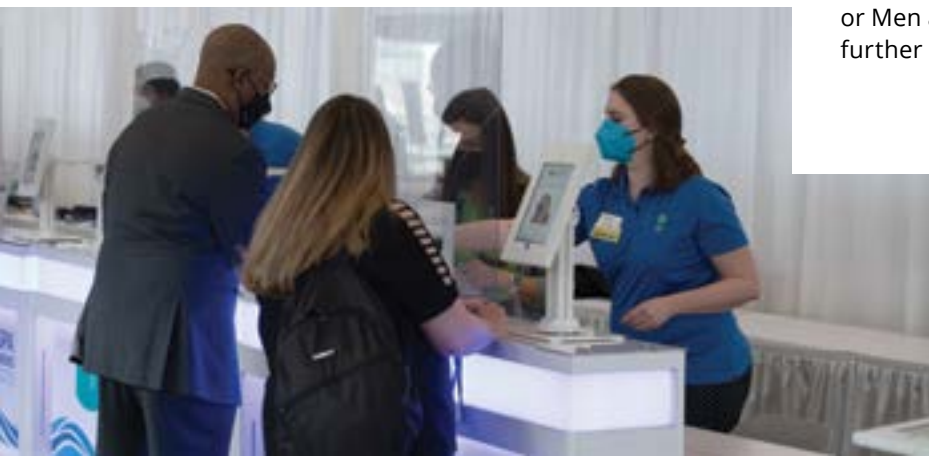

The Westin, Mezzanine Level near the Frost Room and Marina Ballroom Foyer

The Omni, Level Two in the West Prefunction area

An all gender restroom designation means the space will be used by people of all gender identities and expressions. If you choose to use this restroom, you are aware that it is an inclusive space. If you are uncomfortable using an all gender restroom, please use any of the other restrooms available in the facility.

Gender expression takes many different forms. People who are or who are perceived to be transgender, gender non-binary, and genderqueer have often experienced unwanted attention in bathrooms. We affirm the right of each person to choose and use the restroom best suited to their needs and to do so free from scrutiny and judgment from others.

If you witness or experience any challenges with how people are using this all gender restroom, please contact NASPA staff onsite at registration. If you have any questions about all gender restrooms, please contact NASPA's Gender and Sexuality Knowledge Community; Womxn in Student Affairs Knowledge Community; or Men and Masculinities Knowledge Community for further information.

KEYNOTE SPEAKERS

ERIC ROBERSON

GRAMMY Award-nominee, Singer, Songwriter, Producer, Professor, and Howard University Alum

OPENING SESSION

Sunday, April 2 | 5:00 p.m. – 6:30 p.m.

As a GRAMMY Award-nominee, Singer, Songwriter, Producer, Professor and Howard University Alum, Eric Roberson continues to break boundaries as an independent artist in an industry dominated by major labels, manufactured sounds and mainstream radio. Eric has achieved major milestones in his career, from being a successful songwriter and producer for notable artists such as Jill Scott, Musiq Soulchild, Dwele, Vivian Green and countless others, to headlining sold out tours across the country.

Eric is celebrating twenty-one years as an independent artist, creating “Honest Music” since 2001, which has afforded him the artistic freedom that isn’t typically offered in the mainstream music industry. On April 1, 2022, Eric released his latest album entitled “Lessons”.

Eric is currently a Professor at the legendary Berklee College of Music in Boston. When asked about the position he stated that, “It was an opportunity that I couldn’t refuse. I truly believe that at all times we are teachers and students. I not only love teaching the students but learning from them as well.”

In 2017, Eric created “The Process”, a forum in which he invites fans to navigate through his creative experience. It allows fans to listen and comment to unreleased songs, thereby being a part of the “process” of making music. “We are losing so much of the culture that goes with listening to music. Letting the fans watch us create the albums was our way of bringing some of the old music culture back,” says Eric. You can follow Eric’s journey at JoinTheProcess.com, as well as EricRobersonMusic.com.

KEYNOTE SPEAKERS

DAVID HOGG & JACLYN CORIN

Leading Organizers of the March For Our Lives

KEYNOTE

Tuesday, April 4, 1:15 p.m. – 2:15 p.m.

Sponsored by APB Speakers

On February 14, 2018, David's life changed forever. As a senior at Marjory Stoneman Douglas High School in Parkland, Florida, he lost friends, classmates and teachers. David's eloquent responses to America's largest school shooting immediately placed him in the national and international media spotlight. Committed to becoming an agent for change, he resolved that no other young person should have to experience the tragic impact of gun violence. He joined with friends from high school to co-found March For Our Lives, now one of the world's largest youth-led movements. Five weeks after the shooting, March For Our Lives mobilized one of the biggest demonstrations in the nation's history. Speaking before an estimated 800,000 protesters in Washington, D.C., David declared, "The sun shines on a new day—and it is ours!" Since then, David's activism has taken him around the country, meeting with impacted families and diverse communities to deepen his knowledge of gun safety and the politics of ending gun violence. With his younger sister, Lauren, also a student at Marjory Stoneman Douglas High School, he co-wrote #NeverAgain, a New York Times best-seller. David and Lauren also contributed to the best-selling book, Glimmer of Hope: How Tragedy Sparked a Movement, a compilation of writing from the founders of March For Our Lives.

A prolific voice on social media with more than a million followers, David uses his platform to promote civic engagement, activism and voting. As a speaker, he informs, challenges and energizes, empowering his generation to resist apathy and become catalysts for positive social change. "People call us snowflakes," he once tweeted. "What happens when snowflakes vote? That's called an avalanche."

After the largest school shooting in American history, Parkland survivor Jaclyn Corin has become a leading activist for ending gun violence. As the co-founder and leading organizer of March For Our Lives, Jaclyn has rallied students around the world to advocate for social justice.

On February 14, 2018, Jaclyn Corin's life changed forever after a massive school shooting took the lives of 17 students and faculty at her school, Marjory Stoneman Douglas High School in Parkland, Florida. Less than a week after the shooting, she mobilized 100 of her classmates and brought them on a 900-mile lobbying trip to their state capital.

Soon after, she continued her advocacy and became a leading organizer of the March for Our Lives. At the March, she brought Yolanda Renee King to the stage, granddaughter of Martin Luther King Jr., where she preached that the young people of today are a part of a "great generation." Corin helped unite more than 2 million people in 900 marches around the world during the 2018 rallies. The 800,000 people at the Washington D.C. march made it one of the largest demonstrations in the Nation's history.

Corin is in constant contact with student leaders from around the country, organizing local events and voter registration pushes, and promoting the need for more March For Our Lives chapters. She is the "driving force behind the scenes" of March for Our Lives. Jaclyn Corin promises to devote her life to fighting against gun violence and will forever be an advocate for all types of social justice.

CLOSING SESSION

Wednesday, April 5, 10:00 a.m. – 11:30 a.m.

Sponsored by NSLS

As a classical violinist turned innovative composer, Kai Kight uses music as a metaphor to inspire individuals and organizations across the world to compose paths of imagination and fulfillment. Inspired by his own mother who, when diagnosed with cancer, revealed regrets of not bringing her ideas to the world. Kai is on a mission to spark a global mindset shift in which ingenuity is the norm, not the exception.

Kai's unique background is one of both art and science. As a musician, Kai has performed his original music for thousands in venues across the world, from the White House to the Great Wall of China. As a product of Stanford University's design and engineering program, the d. School, and the Behavior Design Lab, Kai studied how to help people create healthy and transformative habits in life. On stage, Kai fuses these experiences to create presentations that are not only designed to stir the soul, but spark concrete action.

FEATURED EDUCATIONAL SESSIONS

Putting the Ethnic in Place: How Memory and Folklore Have Shaped Boston's Neighborhoods

Monday, April 3, 8:30 – 9:30 a.m.
BCEC, Ballroom East and Virtual Experience

Anthony B. Buccitelli, Associate Professor of American Studies and Communications, School of Humanities, Pennsylvania State University, Harrisburg

In American cities, it is common to find neighborhoods that are described in singular ethnic terms: “ethnic places.” Some, like the “Little Italy” or “Chinatown” neighborhoods found in many cities are explicit about this connection, but many more are less formally defined. In Boston, for example, neighborhoods like South Boston or Charlestown have come to be heavily marked as “Irish” neighborhoods, while areas like North End or East Boston have often been described as “Italian.” Yet, curiously, the stories residents tell about these places often present somewhat conflicting pictures of neighborhood history and culture, ones that stress ethnic diversity or demographic changes. How then do urban neighborhoods become these “ethnic places?” The presenter will investigate the process of conflict and consensus involved in the formation of shared memories and cultural traditions that have invested place with ethnic meaning, as well as how contrasting or conflicting meanings have emerged to challenge or change what it means to live in Boston’s neighborhoods.

Legal Implications of Dobbs for Student Affairs Professionals

Monday, April 3, 8:30 – 9:30 a.m.
BCEC, Ballroom West

Melissa Carleton, Partner, Bricker & Eckler LLP

Kate Nash, Tueth Keeney Cooper Mohan and Jackstadt, PC

On June 24, 2022, the United States Supreme Court in Dobbs v. Jackson Women’s Health Organization upheld a Mississippi law that prohibited abortions after 15 weeks, except in limited circumstances. In so doing, the Court overturned years of judicial precedent established in Roe v. Wade and Planned Parenthood of Southeastern Pa. v. Casey and prompted a number of states to enact or revive legislation that in some instances, offers broader protections to women seeking reproductive health services and in other instances criminalizes such actions or criminalizes the actions of “aiders and abettors.” As the legal landscape evolves, questions proliferate about how various laws impact students, employees, institutions with student health centers, and clinical education programs. In this session delivered in partnership with the National Association of College and University Attorneys (NACUA), two NACUA member attorneys will explore how various state laws impact student affairs professionals at colleges and universities.

Can Higher Ed Meet the Needs and Expectations of Generation Z?

Monday, April 3, 10:00 – 11:00 a.m.
BCEC, Ballroom East and Virtual Experience

Scott Bass, Professor and Provost Emeritus, Department of Public Administration and Policy, American University

Kevin Kruger, NASPA President

The session will examine the capacity of colleges and universities to meet the needs and expectations of a diverse and stressed generation of students. Bass will draw upon his experiences as provost and findings highlighted in his new award-winning book Administratively Adrift.

Bass will discuss the underlying siloed service structure in most academic settings and contrast that to the distinct culture and acculturation of Generation Z, born in the mid-1900s through the mid-2010s. Findings of their subsequent mental health and academic performance both before the emergence of the pandemic in 2020 and after will be discussed.

In light of the traumatic events encountered and still unfolding for a vulnerable population accustomed to integrated, personalized, and timely services focused on the end-user, how has the academy adjusted its organization of services, policies, practices, traditions, and culture to meet the students where they are? What are examples of the encounters students face in a highly specialized and semi-independent array of student services? A brief exploration of strategies for a more student-centered educational setting will be identified.

The Equity/Excellence Imperative from a Student Affairs Lens: Campus Perspectives

Monday, April 3, 2:30 – 3:30 p.m.
BCEC, Ballroom West

Moderator: Blanche Hughes, Vice President for Student Affairs, Colorado State University

Kevin Kruger, NASPA President

Martino Harmon, Vice President for Student Life, University of Michigan

Patricia Whitely, Senior Vice President for Student Affairs, University of Miami

Kevin Jackson, Vice President for Student Life, Baylor University

Danita Brown Young, Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs, University of Illinois Urbana-Champaign

The Association for Undergraduate Education at Research Universities (UERU) sponsored the Boyer 2030 Commission Report, The Equity/Excellence Imperative: A 2030 Blueprint for Undergraduate Education at U.S. Research Universities (University Press of Colorado, 2022). NASPA President and CEO, Kevin Kruger, served as one of 16 Boyer 2030 Commissioners. This panel, moderated by Dr. Kruger, will highlight how student affairs leaders are critically engaging the Report and its recommendations on their respective campuses in hope of further assessing its potential value for supporting the work of NASPA members more broadly. What, after all, does the “equity/excellence imperative” mean? What does this vision and call for concrete action entail for the work that we all do? The Boyer 2030 Commission (like UERU) focused on the experience at research universities, but how does the Report relate to other types of higher ed institutions? Please join us for this wide-ranging discussion of broadly strategic significance.

Ten years later, in a follow-up edited book, New Scholarship and Frameworks for Understanding Native Students in Higher Education, many of the 2013 authors plus new Indigenous scholars explore the advances in the field of Indigenous higher education and new research since 2013. Join this moderated panel of experts as they address expanded topics from the book.

Eddie R. Cole, Associate Professor of Higher Education and History, University of California, Los Angeles

“Diversity, Equity & Inclusion” (DEI), “critical race theory” (CRT), and a host of other concepts have been strategically framed as “anti-woke” and weaponized against the work of educators committed to enacting these democratic ideals, including those in student affairs. Although such attacks are not new, the current discourse about and efforts to legislate these ideals and perspectives is. The positioning of DEI and related concepts as “anti-woke” serves as a serious threat to learning environments across the higher education landscape. In this session, NASPA President Kevin Kruger will facilitate a dialogue with scholars Shaun Harper and Lori Patton Davis about the current state of these attacks. Harper and Patton Davis will then engage the audience in a critical and interactive conversation about strategies and tools for student affairs leaders and professionals to maintain their work and commitment to diversity, equity and inclusion.

Since 2015, universities across the U.S. have experienced a rise in on-campus memorial protests. Students and community activists demanded the removal of memorials commemorating segregationists, eugenicists, Ku Klux Klan leaders, and Confederate soldiers. This prevalence of the issue was captured when the Southern Poverty Law Center cataloged more than 1,800 Confederate memorials across the U.S., with hundreds of them located on college campuses. Even beyond Confederate tributes, the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and the city of Boston has a rich history of racial reconciliation and memorialization. In this featured educational session, panelists grapple with the historical, moral, and procedural questions confounding memorial disputes across the nation.

Empowering Students: Student Activism, Free Speech and Institutional Values

Monday, April 3, 3:00 - 5:00 p.m.

BCEC, Ballroom East

Moderators:

Ansito Walter, Professor of Public Administration, University of Guam

Manar Sabry, Senior Assistant Director of Strategic Planning, Binghamton University

Speakers:

Beverly Daniel Tatum, Interim President, Mount Holyoke College

Brian Rose, Vice President for Student Affairs, Binghamton University (SUNY)

Lawrence Camacho, Dean of Enrollment Management and Student Success and Dean of Students, University of Guam

The increasing political and racial incidents across the US have reverberated across the higher education institutions nationwide. Building an inclusive campus that respects people from all backgrounds is integral to creating community, but faculty and staff cannot do this without students. In fact, only students can bring real change and it is our role to support them. However, there is often a gap between students' and university administrators' approaches to solutions. Student affairs educators can help narrow the gap between university senior administrators' perspectives and student activists' personal goals by helping students be heard.

This Extended Learning Session will offer a full understanding of student activism and deliver some effective techniques and resources in order to empower student affairs educators with the perspectives to address the students demands. By 'demystifying activism', panelists will share stories, scholarly research, and perceptions. Tackling ways to better understand student needs, decision-making best practices to lay common ground between students and administrators.

CERTIFICATION FOR STUDENT AFFAIRS EDUCATORS

STUDENT AFFAIRS EDUCATOR CERTIFICATION

SCHEDULE

NASPA is an approved provider of Student Affairs Educator Certification credits through the Higher Education Consortium for Student Affairs Certification. Student Affairs Certification includes seven credentials—the core student affairs educator certification and six specialty area certifications. The core certification serves as an important, independent credential as well as a required prerequisite for each specialty certification. Certification is designed to benefit individual educators at the mid-level and above, higher education institutions, and the larger student affairs and services profession.

Sessions at the NASPA Annual Conference eligible for certification hours will be indicated by the corresponding certification acronym as outlined below:

Core CE Credits

Core Student Affairs Educator Certification (CSAEd) - CE credits directly related to the domains of the Core Student Affairs Educator Certification.

Social Justice and Inclusion (SJI) CE Credits

Social Justice and Inclusion (SJI) CE credits focused on the process, outcomes, and dynamic influence of individual and institutional awareness and action to foster inclusion, create equity, and ensure access grounded in the understanding of systems of oppression and privilege and how they are perpetuated in our practice and communities. SJI CE credits count toward the Core certification (CSAEd™) maintenance.

Specialty CE Credits

These are CE credits focused on the domains of Student Affairs Educator Certification as it particularly pertains to one of the six specialty certification functional areas. There are six types of specialty CE credits corresponding to the six specialty certifications:
