Possible Programs

Below are new programs that would enhance community cohesion and could be included in the above welcome packet

Designed by TownMapsUSA.com

Figure 1: This image depicts a Block Captain holding a meeting with her street’s local community members to discuss the block’s rules and to make sure everyone is keeping up with the standards she has set.

Block Captain Program

Block captains are volunteers in charge in maintaining a block’s safety, beauty, and health. Through a block captain program, one prominent member of the block volunteers for this role. There will need to be some sort of checks and balances system where the block captain will be able to ensure that a family, or property, is inline with the block’s rules. This program will encourage respect and care for the town’s blocks as there will be a sense of solidarity that exists.

The City of Port Pentworth in Georgia has implemented this program and has seen success through the inevitable result of cohesion on the block. Don Fletcher and Sarah Kaip, the creators of this program claim that “the Block Captain is an effective gatekeeper for the exchange of information between the program leadership and his or her neighbors. The Block Captain also helps to plan block meetings so that they support overall program priorities.” We are convinced that this will lead to a more beautiful block as everybody will want to keep up with their neighbors and not fall behind. In order to ensure this, the Block Captain will be elected in a fashion similar to the one set up in Philadelphia. The forms below are reproduced for Mount Carmel based on these models. Block parties will also be a great way in which families can come together and spend time with each other. This will have numerous positive implications such as a unification of the block, an attractive force for outsiders that may be interested in this sort of town interaction, and a way for kids to stay out of trouble.

Below is a list of helpful techniques for a Block Captain and for the residents of the blocks.

As a Block Captain, you are the person who unites the residents on your block. Together, you can build a vision for a clean and beautiful block.

Here are some helpful hints:

- Sweep walks and gutters.
- Plant flowers on the block, in yards, in window boxes, in sidewalk urns, and around the base of street trees.
- Maintain and paint abandoned houses.
- Plant new street trees.
- Install decorative security lights.
- Hang flags or pennants.
- Paint curbs.
- Help neighbors paint and renovate.
- Scrub steps.
- Organize block parties.
- Coordinate activities for children.
- Install and maintain block litter baskets.

How Can Block Captain Serve Their Block?

- Be leaders- unite their neighbors to set goals and share the workload
- Plan an agenda and select a time and place to oversee monthly meetings
- Remain in contact with the block residents. Listen to their needs and/or ideas
- Act as advocates and speakers for their block
- Invite children to partake in some of the activities

How Can Block Residents Help?

- Work with their Block Captain to achieve their cleanup and beautification goals
- Join the block committee and pay their dues
- Do their part in cleaning and planting- set a good example
- Attend block meetings and share their ideas for improvements to the block
- Participate in block parties, cake sales, and other activities to raise fund for the block and build block spirit

Below is an example of a sheet that the Block Captain would need to complete in order to become a Block Captain for their street.

Expanding Community Sports Program for Children

At this moment Mt. Carmel has few opportunities for children to come together and be active. This lack of options for kids will exacerbate problems. Creating a town wide recreation league will bring the community together, provide outlets for children, and help create a sense of pride in the town. By creating this program, children will also create positive memories and long-term investment in the town. These memories may become strong enough to ensure that less young people leave the town as soon as they are able to. This program would support already popular high-school level programming. Countless towns in Pennsylvania and other states come together and rally around their high school sports teams or community organizations. The bonds of the enjoyment of seeing their kids excel, as well as the idea that they once competed in this same manner. Over time both of these feelings could be extended with recreation activities, which will link people to the town, and link the people of the town to one another. Finally, this is an inexpensive enterprise, and could provide summer jobs for teens or young adults. For any leagues that already exist, the forms can be included in our welcome packet for new residents to get their kids involved in the town. Below is an example of such a form that could be used for new leagues.

Figure 3. This image shows how community members can purchase lots in a local their local community gardens to grow and maintain a healthy food supply as well as making the town more green.

Community Garden

Community gardens are a growing trend across the country. These serve as a way to unite communities and provide healthy food options. Community gardens are relatively inexpensive to start and maintain. There are many spaces in Mt. Carmel that could be transformed into a site for a community garden. This transition from abandoned lots to community gardens will also help to beautify the community and make it more appealing for people looking to move in. The garden could also provide positive activities for the youth of the community to participate in. After School, In-School, and weekend programs could be created to get kids together and teach them how to maintain the garden. There are countless grants available for communities that are looking to start their own community garden. These grants would provide the funds needed to help create the garden, and after the garden is up and running it would not require much money at all to maintain it especially if it is used as a program to involve the children of Mt. Carmel.

2016 Adopt-a-Plot Agreement

Terms and Agreement for Adopt-a-Plot and Share the Harvest:

Mt. Carmel Community Garden/City of Mt. Carmel will:

Provide the garden plot, water, access to tools, mulch, compost, and gardening information. A section of seeds and some transplants will be provided for a nominal cost, when available.

Community Gardeners will:

- Plant their plot with fruits and vegetables throughout the growing season, March through October. Year round gardening is encouraged.
- Water as necessary.
- Weed their plot AND the walkway around their plot.
- Chop soft tissue, non-diseased plants for composting to recycle as a valuable source of nitrogen to keep the garden beds healthy. Only large hard-stemmed, weedy, and diseased plants shall leave the garden.
- Learn and use only organic gardening methods.
- Harvest their produce to encourage more production and reduce wasted produce.
- Harvest and donate the MAJORITY of your weekly produce for the Saturday 10:00 AM food pantry pick-up. If you are not available to do it, arrange for another gardener to do it or inform the garden leader
- Participate in the assigned community chores necessary to maintain the garden.

Guidelines:

1. If, for any reason (health, issues, work), you cannot maintain your plot or have a grievance with others, inform your garden leader after taking steps to resolve it yourself.
2. Each new gardener will pay a one-time $10 processing fee to the Mt. Carmel Community Garden when they are assigned their plot.
3. Available plots shall be given to new gardeners before being given to an existing gardener. New gardeners will start with one plot their first year. The maximum allowance of garden plots by one family or group is two plots or the number of plots you ended with the prior year.
4. The Mt. Carmel Community Garden Chair and designated garden leaders oversee the gardens. The garden leaders will assign plots, assist new gardeners, report maintenance issues, check supplies, ensure community chores are being done, check garden plots for compliance with agreement terms and be available to resolve problems. The garden leader meetings are open to all gardeners.
5. Gardeners must adhere to the terms stated above to continue to garden their adopted plot(s). The garden leader will contact the gardener of a grievance and work to resolve it within a specified time. If the grievance remains, then the garden leader and Garden Chair may revoke the plot assignment.

Community Walks

A community walk will allow community members to go outside and get to meet each other and interact at a deeper level of interaction. This will be beneficial to Mt. Carmel because new and old neighbors can interact and form relationships. This walk can also serve the purpose of raising money for a cause, such as a “crisis fund” in case of emergencies. On our visit we learned that an emergency fund would be beneficial for the community members in case there was a crisis. Many community members live next to people whose homes are unstable and are often a danger and hazard to their community and safety at large. This fund will allow the community to knock down the unstable and hazardous houses so that the people are not at risk. Overall the community walks will help Mt. Carmel come together and work as a community towards a goal.
