

Move to...

Ashli Baker
Re: Signatures for thesis page
To: Silja M. Hilton,
Reply-To: Ashli Baker

Inbox...cknell.edu 11:24 AM

Silja,

I give you email permission to submit your final version of your Bucknell honors thesis to the Bucknell Digital Commons.

Congratulations,
Professor Ashli Baker

Ashli J. E. Baker
Associate Professor
Department of Classics
Bucknell University

On Wed, May 11, 2022 at 5:27 AM Silja Hilton <smh033@bucknell.edu> wrote:
Professors,

Here is the information it gives on the website:

Prior to submitting a thesis to Bucknell Digital Commons, students must obtain final approval from their advisor(s), thesis committee member(s), and their department chair. Approval is indicated with signatures on the signature page of the thesis. After obtaining appropriate signatures, scan the signature page and then use Adobe Acrobat (not Adobe Reader) to merge your signature page and the thesis document into a final submission-ready PDF.

Students may manually collect signatures, or they may collect digital signatures. There are a couple of options available for students who prefer to collect permission remotely.
